

Parchment Community Library

Children's Programming Notes

What is it that we do?

Provide programs for children of all ages.

Who do we do it for?

Programs are designed for children of all ages.

Where do we do it?

The library's meeting room is the site of children's programs.

How do we do it?

A program is designed for a specific age group. The program is scheduled and publicity procedures are implemented. The program is completed. An evaluation of the program follows.

Why do we do it that way?

Programming demonstrates to children the services that a library has to offer and familiarizes them with the library setting. Programs are designed to encourage children of the community to use the library for information and recreation. The procedure described accomplishes these goals.

Do we need to change the way we do it?

Programs can be changed to accommodate the special needs of patrons.

How do we make the change?

The format of the program can be altered to meet the needs of the participants.
